

Please Pass the M&Ms

Pass around a bowl of M&Ms and some small cups/plates. Let everyone take however many M&Ms they want. No eating the candy just yet!!! Call out the color/topic and have everyone share one answer per M&M they have in that color. For example, if you call out red, and Susan has three red M&Ms, she will provide three answers, then Doris who has one red M&M will share her one answer. Let your sisters eat their M&Ms after they have shared. Continue until the M&Ms are gone (i.e. everyone has shared).

Feel free to change the topics to suit your group of P.E.O.s. Here are a couple of suggestions:

Color of M&M:

- Red
- Yellow
- Green
- Orange
- Brown
- Blue

Share:

- Favorite hobby
- Skip (no sharing required)
- Favorite movie
- Favorite place to travel
- Most memorable moment
- Wild card (share anything you choose)

Color of M&M:

- Red
- Yellow
- Green
- Orange
- Brown
- Blue

Share:

- Something personal
- “What P.E.O. means to me”
- Your choice to pass or share
- Your choice to pass or share
- A hobby
- A person you admire

Note: If time is a factor, or attendance is high, you could divide into 2-4 groups.

Comments from Chapter AW, Montana: “It just so happened that our chapter played this game the evening of an initiation. It was a delightful, sometimes poignant and heartwarming way to share some of our individual thought about ourselves and about P.E.O. Even the new initiate had a special P.E.O. story: the reason she said ‘yes’ when asked to join. And can you believe, one person only took one M&M, a green one?! She swore that she had never heard of the game. We found that hard to believe. ☺”